Darling Wifie Nina:

Just received your darling Saturday's letter and was surprised honey love, that Mondean hasn't as yet received the affidavit for Zerdeh. I sent it off I believe sometime last week and am sure she should have received it by now. Toots, write me, let me if she has received it yet.

Sure am surprised that you all are having such weather in New York. Its been nice and warm all along here, but last night it turned kind of cool. We have had some real nice days and last night kind of made us all shiver.

Honey love, did you take your vacation yet? Sorrie, if you would take my advice, wait until the 15th and if they make no mention of your vacation quit right there, regardless of your pay. They certainly do make me tired the way they are carrying on. One thing is certain, lovie and that is you must leave on May 1st. I assure ly don't want anything down at the dispensary to keep you there. Lovie, as soon as you leave, don't forget to advise me so I'll mail your letters to your mother's house.

Darling mine, I am sure between you and Nell, you will be able to accomplish all that will be necessary for your departure. Sure would love to be there and watch how busy you are and will be. Talk about being happy! Only 4 more Sundays to be with out you. Just 5 short weeks and then my darling little wifie will be back me, and believe me, sweetie, won't we look be happy though! I have done wonderfully well for March, closing my account with $167.00 for the month. I certainly do hope I have so nice a month this month. I have tried to save as much as I could love, and all I did save is just $60, and to-day is rent day, too. I really don't know where my money went to, but I know I didn't get a new shirt or pair of shoes out of it. Believe me, lovie, I'll know where the money goes, too, when you're around, and right?

Honey love, would you believe that I started this letter at just 12 o'clock and now it's 2.30? Talk about being interrupted. Honey love, I've decided to change my method in writing. Hereafter I will write every night instead of during the day. So to-night, I'll write again to-night so that all you will be missing will be a long letter. To-night I'll write all I have to, for I won't be interrupted.

Shall close now, honey love, with all my love to you, my darling wifie, Ever lovingly

Joe.
